

Helping you prepare a winning strategy

1.7M documents
↓
121K+ scoped down for review
↓
30.9K+
most of relevant documents culled down
↓
15K+ reduced documents that contained relevant facts
↓
150
right documents selected by counsel

Helping you prepare a winning strategy

Extending rigorous document review processes to deposition prep creates a unique and efficient support service. Integreon's team of document reviewers and litigation experts meticulously review and cull large volumes of complex documents to arm and prepare counsel with the right information. We collaborate with our corporate clients and their law firm counsel to leverage industry leading technology, realizing cost savings and efficiencies.

It's all about the right documents

When Integreon's document review team is already applying technology-enabled workflows to prepare documents for production, the team's familiarity with the issues of the case can greatly help counsel prepare witness binders and deposition materials. It is a natural extension of what Integreon's team is already doing—maximizing effectiveness and achieving efficiencies with document they already know.

In tandem with clients and their counsel, Integreon's knowledgeable team of document reviewers identify witnesses and determine relevant facts and issues to narrow down the population to the most relevant document sets. With counsel's input, the team then summarizes documents to assemble personalized witness binders and chronologies. Counsel uses these materials to prepare witnesses for depositions.

Integreon legal services

Whether for litigation, investigations (internal or regulatory), or responding to requests for personal data, vast amounts of data need to be considered and expertly handled. Integreon's team of attorneys and subject matter experts develop right-sized custom solutions that bring together technology, process, and resources able to meet demanding timelines and data security standards while maintaining the agility to handle changing needs and requirements.

Benefits and capabilities

- A global network of purpose-built review centers
- World-class foreign language capabilities in over 50 languages
- Platform agnostic, able to seamlessly work with clients' preferred technology provider or recommend a solution based on the requirements of the project
- Bespoke rigorous quality control process and procedures
- Available onshore, offshore, on-site and via blended service delivery and flexible pricing models

Learn how Integreon can help your organization do more and do it better.

Contact us today at info@integreon.com or visit integreon.com.